

PROHIBITION WAVE SWEEPS GEORGIA

Leader in Fight Candidate for Congress, and Wants Crusade Made National.

"On to Washington" is the slogan proposed by Judge Anderson Roddenberry, one of the leaders in the State prohibition fight in Georgia, who, flushed with the victory of the prohibition forces in the senate of that State, with prospects of another victory in the house, is demanding that Georgians enlist in the fight for national prohibition.

Judge Roddenberry has announced his candidacy for Congress from the Second district, on the Prohibition platform and will endeavor to displace Congressman James Griggs.

One of the warmest fights in the history of the State is promised. Judge Roddenberry has successfully waged a number of local option fights over the State in the past five years and on the crest of the prohibition wave sweeping over Georgia will make a formidable opponent.

It is practically conceded that Georgia will become a prohibition State on January 1 next, the recent vote of 23 to 7 in the Georgia State senate indicating the trend of public feeling. Similar action is expected in the house and Governor Hoke Smith has promised to sign the prohibition bill.

EAT "ROUGH-ON-RATS" THINKING IT IS CHEESE

Mistaking "rough-on-rats" for Boqueron cheese, two colored boys employed at the Logan, Iowa circle, made sandwiches out of the poison, and had a narrow escape from death. The boys, Richard Bassey, fourteen years old, and Ernest Lewis, sixteen, found the poison in the basement, and thought it was cheese. Neither drank any water or other liquid after eating the poison, which was probably the only thing that saved their lives.

CLERKS REMINDED OF POLITICS BAR

Commerce and Labor Department Exacts Written Statements on Old Order.

The Department of Commerce and Labor is sending out to the employees coming under its jurisdiction a circular letter containing the order of the President against political activity of Government employees.

In order that a complete record may be obtained, the employees are required to fill out an accompanying blank, stating that they have read the order, and understand their purport. These blanks are returned to the department, and will be filed for future reference.

The circular states that the department expects each person in its service to comply strictly with the letter and spirit of the order, and provides that officers in charge shall make prompt report of each failure to observe its provisions.

The new order against political activity among Government employees reads as follows:

"No person in the executive civil service shall use his official authority or influence for the purpose of interfering with an election or affecting the result thereof. Persons who, by the provisions of these rules are in the competitive classified service, while retaining the right to vote as they please and to express privately their opinions on all political subjects, shall take no active part in political management or in political campaigns."

The first case of snake bite reported this season was yesterday treated at Georgetown University Hospital by Dr. Murrin, of the hospital staff.
